BACKGROUND

From a young age, I discovered my deep-rooted passion for film. It all began with my fascination for making videos and skits alongside my friends, but it soon evolved into a burning desire to create life with characters on the silver screen. The art of filmmaking and acting excited me like nothing else. I yearned to create breathtaking films that would not only offer audiences a fresh perspective but also leave them with a profound emotional impact or a newfound sense of inspiration. Above all, I wanted the opportunity to bring the director's vision to life, vividly translating their ideas into unforgettable cinematic experiences.
